ABOUT THE PRODIGY CULTURAL ARTS PROGRAM

Prodigy is primarily an after-school program for at-risk youth ages 7-17. Funded by the Department of Juvenile Justice, there is no cost to the families for youth to attend. Prodigy uses an asset-based youth development model by infusing life skills in with cultural art lessons. This unique approach not only prevents youth from entering, or going deeper into, the Juvenile Justice System, it also prepares them to become productive and socially responsible adults.

Prodigy Cultural Arts Program Showcase Month spotlights the visual and performing arts talents of program youth. The 2015 theme, "Planting the Seeds for...", is individualized by each Prodigy site, making the material unique to that location.
